Managing in a Culturally Inclusive Nonprofit

Presented by Liza Talusan, Director of Intercultural Affairs, Stonehill College

Join us for a workshop dedicated to exploring the benefits of creating culturally inclusive environments within our nonprofits. With guidance from an expert in the field, you will leave this seminar with tools and resources and reflective questions to bring back to your organizations.

The workshop will address:

- The social identities of your organization, staff/volunteers, and constituents
- Effective management of culturally diverse teams
- The range of cultural and diversity issues commonly occurring
- How creating an inclusive workplace is good for business (higher job satisfaction, higher employee morale, improved problem solving throughout the organization, etc.)
