

COURSE SELECTION WORKSHEET

Name _____ Intended Major _____

- All first-year students take a 1-credit APL 001 First-Year Experience course that meets once a week for the first nine weeks of the fall semester.
- Indicate a preference for a Philosophy or Religious Studies Cornerstone Seminar in the fall. In the list below, rank at least five Philosophy Cornerstone Seminars 1 - 5 and rank at least five Religious Studies Cornerstone Seminars 1 - 5 (1 = top choice).
- Review the recommended fall course schedule for your intended area of study (or Undeclared if you have not chosen an area of study) and write in the courses you wish to take in the spaces below.
- The courses listed in this Guide are those available to first-year students at this time. Choose electives or courses from areas that you might want to explore to complete your four-course schedule.
- You may be advised to take a History or Literature Cornerstone Seminar, in addition to the Philosophy or Religious Studies Seminar. For greater scheduling flexibility, in the list below, rank at least five History Cornerstone Seminars 1 - 5 and rank at least five Literature Cornerstone Seminars 1 - 5 (1 = top choice).
- Choose the language you wish to study if your schedule allows. When possible, you should study your language in your first year.
- Choose two alternate courses in case the first elective choice you pick is unavailable. We will try to place you in the first-choice courses, but will need alternate choices as well.
- You may also want to add one or two 1-credit courses to your schedule. Discuss these options with your advisor.
- Notify your academic advisor if you took any AP, IB or college courses in high school.
- Write down any notes or questions you have so that you can ask them when you have your one-on-one meeting with an academic advisor. You may also call the Office of Academic Services & Advising at 508-565-1306 if you have any questions.

Your Preferred Schedule

The Cornerstone Seminar I prefer to take in the fall is: _____ Philosophy _____ Religious Studies

Course #	Course Name	Credits	Reason for taking
APL 001	First-Year Experience	1	Assist with transition to Stonehill College

Choose two alternate courses in case the first elective choice you pick is unavailable. We will try to place you in the first-choice courses, but will need alternate choices as well.

CORNERSTONE SEMINARS

All students should plan to take a Philosophy or Religious Studies Cornerstone Seminar during the Fall 2020 semester; depending on your major, you will also be advised to take a History or Literature seminar. We strongly suggest that students do not take more than two seminars in a single semester. With your advisor, you should determine how many seminars you plan to take during the Fall 2020 semester. Prior to the end of your sophomore year, you will take a Cornerstone Seminar in each of these four departments: History, Literature, Philosophy, and Religious Studies.

COURSES THAT FULFILL CORNERSTONE REQUIREMENTS

PHILOSOPHY OR RELIGIOUS STUDIES CORNERSTONE SEMINARS: During the Fall 2020 semester you will take either a Philosophy or a Religious Studies Cornerstone Seminar. Whichever one you don't take during the Fall 2020 semester, you will take during the Spring 2021 semester.

COURSES THAT FULFILL ONLY THE FIRST-YEAR SEMINAR REQUIREMENT

Some courses in departments other than History, Literature, Philosophy, and Religious Studies fulfill the First-Year Seminar requirement, but do not fulfill a Cornerstone Department requirement. In most cases, these classes fulfill a major requirement or other general education requirement as noted below.

COM 110 Navigating the Media Landscape (Equivalent to COM 107, a requirement for the COM major)

ECO 110 The Economics of eBay (Equivalent to ECO 176; Fulfills Social Scientific Inquiry Requirement)

ECO 113 Everyday Economics (Fulfills Social Scientific Inquiry Requirement)
